

Combination Configurations

When combinations are being assembled from parts and standard configurations from the 5000-series Modular Scaffolding System a strength and stability calculation from Altrex may be required. Altrex has the in-house specialists who make the required calculations. Our engineers are able to make both simple and highly complex calculations for any situation. Working safely at height is always of the utmost importance. Because the 5000-series Modular Scaffolding System can be combined endlessly without losing safety.

Relax. It's an Altrex.
